INPATIENT REHABILITATION: The Bridge from Hospital to Home

2012 – FOCUSING ON BRAIN INJURY

Focusing on Brain Injury Rehabilitation

Understanding the true meaning of the bridge from hospital to home is essential for those professionals involved in the care and recovery of patients with brain injury. This is why Methodist Rehabilitation Center is presenting another educational conference about the importance of this bridge with the 2012 focus being on brain injury.

You will learn the role of the many members of the rehabilitation team, the physician, therapists, nurses, researchers, psychologists and technicians who guide the recovery of patients facing debilitating effects of brain injury. Plus, you will have the opportunity to hear, firsthand, the stories of those who have traveled the bridge and are continuing their brave journeys.

In addition to the very human side of this remarkable journey, you will have the opportunity to hear about and see some of the amazing technology that sets Methodist Rehab apart in this bridge approach to healing. Our researchers will share with you insight into scientific investigations that may help people reach a more positive and productive destination. Please join us on February 3, as we continue this amazing journey together.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

This activity will provide an overview of the inpatient rehabilitation process; the role and interventions provided by each interdisciplinary team member, advances made in recent years in therapeutic interventions and assistive technology and implications for continued advances in therapy from current research efforts.

OVERALL OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of the lecture, participants should be better able to:

- Describe components of post-acute care for the patient who qualifies for inpatient rehabilitation services
- Describe the role of various members of the interdisciplinary treatment team
- Explain advances in technology and therapy services that have become available in the last five years
- Describe contributions to the field made by rehabilitation research scientists
